Level Seven Construction Continues at Robert W. Woodruff Library Building

Faculty, staff and students are reminded that Stack Level 7 of the Woodruff Library remains closed for renovation. You may hear construction noise intermittently in the library building through the end of the calendar year.

Level 7 books -- call numbers F1001 through HJ, which include anthropology, business, Canadian history, economics, geography, Latin American history and statistics – are housed off-site in temporary storage. You may request L7 books online at http://web.library.emory.edu/services/stacks/archive/renovation/level%207/retrievals.html.

Level 7 is the fourth of six stack levels to be converted to compact shelving. The goal of the work is to increase shelving capacity, ensuring that as many of the library’s collections as possible are easily accessible to users on campus. Level 7 is expected to reopen in January 2009.

Questions? Send e-mail to WoodLibRenovation-L@listserv.emory.edu.

###

The Emory University Libraries (http://web.library.emory.edu/) in Atlanta and Oxford, Ga., are an intellectual commons for Emory University, Atlanta and the world. The nine libraries' holdings include more than 3.1 million print and electronic volumes, 40,000-plus electronic journals, and internationally renowned special collections.

Emory University (http://www.emory.edu/) is one of the nation's leading private research universities and a member of the Association of American Universities. Known for its demanding academics, outstanding undergraduate college of arts and sciences, highly ranked professional schools and state-of-the-art research facilities, Emory is ranked as one of the country's top 20 national universities by U.S. News & World Report. In addition to its nine schools, the university encompasses The Carter Center, Yerkes National Primate Research Center and Emory Healthcare, the state's largest and most comprehensive health care system.